master thesis in addis ababa university pdf is a pivotal resource for students embarking on their advanced academic journeys at one of Ethiopia's premier institutions. This comprehensive guide delves into the intricacies of securing, preparing, and submitting your master's thesis at Addis Ababa University (AAU), with a particular focus on the availability and accessibility of crucial information in PDF format. We will explore the various stages involved, from initial research and proposal development to writing, formatting, and the final defense. Understanding the AAU thesis submission process, including specific departmental requirements and university-wide guidelines, is paramount for academic success. This article aims to demystify these procedures, offering actionable insights for students seeking readily available resources, often in PDF form, to navigate their master's thesis endeavors effectively.

Understanding the Master Thesis in Addis Ababa University Context

Pursuing a master's degree at Addis Ababa University necessitates a significant research undertaking, culminating in the submission of a master's thesis. This academic document is a testament to a student's ability to conduct independent research, critically analyze existing literature, and contribute new knowledge to their chosen field. The process is rigorous and requires meticulous planning and execution. Many students seek out official university documents and guides, often available as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF files, to ensure they are adhering to all stipulated academic standards and requirements.

Key Stages of Master Thesis Preparation at AAU

The journey of completing a master's thesis at Addis Ababa University is typically segmented into several distinct phases. Each stage demands specific actions and a thorough understanding of the academic expectations. Accessing relevant documentation, frequently in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF format, can significantly streamline these processes.

Selecting a Research Topic and Supervisor

The initial and perhaps most critical step is identifying a research topic that aligns with your academic interests and the expertise of faculty members. This is followed by securing a supervisor who will guide you throughout the research and writing process. Prospective students often look for departmental research areas and faculty profiles, which can sometimes be found in downloadable university publications, including those pertinent to master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF resources.

Developing a Research Proposal

Once a topic and supervisor are in place, the next crucial step is to develop a comprehensive research proposal. This document outlines the research question, objectives, methodology, expected outcomes, and timeline. The proposal serves as a roadmap for your thesis and is subject to approval by the department or a thesis committee. University websites and academic support centers often provide proposal templates and guidelines, which are commonly distributed as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF documents to aid students.

Conducting Research and Data Collection

This phase involves systematically gathering the data necessary to address your research question. Depending on the discipline, this could involve literature reviews, surveys, experiments, interviews, or archival research. Adhering to ethical research practices is paramount during this stage. Students often consult methodological guides and best practice documents, which are frequently accessible as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF files, to inform their data collection strategies.

Writing the Master Thesis

The actual writing of the thesis is an iterative process that involves structuring your findings, analysis, and conclusions logically. This typically includes an introduction, literature review, methodology, results, discussion, and conclusion. Maintaining academic integrity, proper citation, and clear, concise language are essential. Many students rely on university-provided thesis writing guides and formatting manuals, often available in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF format, to ensure their manuscript meets the required standards.

Thesis Formatting and Submission

Each department and the university at large have specific formatting guidelines that must be strictly followed. These often cover aspects such as margins, font types, citation styles, and the overall structure of the document. Submission typically involves both electronic and hard copy versions. Students can usually find detailed formatting requirements and submission checklists in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF documents provided by the Graduate Studies office or their respective faculties.

Thesis Defense

The final hurdle is the thesis defense, where you present your research to a panel of examiners and answer their questions. This is an opportunity to demonstrate your mastery of the subject matter and defend your research findings. Preparation for the defense often involves reviewing university guidelines on defense procedures and common questions, which may be included in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF resources.

Accessing Master Thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF Resources

Finding reliable and official documentation is key to a smooth thesis completion. Addis Ababa University, like many academic institutions, makes a wealth of information available to its students. The digital age has made accessing these resources more convenient than ever, with many crucial documents being distributed in PDF format.

University Library and Online Repositories

The main library at Addis Ababa University, along with departmental libraries, serves as a repository for academic resources, including past theses. Many universities are increasingly digitizing their collections, making it possible to access older master's theses in Addis Ababa University PDF format online through the library's digital catalog or dedicated repositories. These can provide valuable insights into the scope and style of research conducted at AAU.

Departmental Websites and Academic Support Units

Individual departments within Addis Ababa University often host specific guidelines, templates, and handbooks related to master's thesis preparation. These are frequently published as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF files and can be downloaded directly from departmental websites. Similarly, academic support units or graduate program offices may offer general university-wide guidelines and best practices in PDF format to assist students.

Contacting Supervisors and Faculty

While not a direct source of PDF documents, supervisors and faculty members are invaluable resources. They can direct students to relevant university regulations, formatting guides, and potentially even provide examples of past theses that are approved for circulation. They can also clarify any ambiguities found in downloadable master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF documents.

Common Challenges and Tips for Master Thesis Success

Navigating the master's thesis process at Addis Ababa University can present challenges, but with a strategic approach, these can be overcome. Understanding common pitfalls and employing effective strategies can lead to a successful thesis completion.

Time Management and Procrastination

One of the most significant challenges is managing time effectively and avoiding procrastination. Breaking down the thesis into smaller, manageable tasks and setting realistic deadlines is crucial. Regular meetings with your supervisor can help keep you on track. Many students find that reviewing project management techniques, often available in academic success guides in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF format, can be beneficial.

Research Methodology and Data Analysis

Ensuring the chosen research methodology is appropriate and the data analysis is sound can be complex. Seeking guidance from your supervisor and statistical support services, if available, is highly recommended. Resources explaining statistical software or qualitative analysis techniques, often found as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF guides, can be instrumental.

Academic Writing and Citation

Producing clear, coherent, and well-cited academic prose is essential. Familiarizing yourself with the required citation style (e.g., APA, MLA) and practicing academic writing skills are vital. University writing centers often offer workshops and resources, some of which may be available as master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF handouts.

Dealing with Feedback and Revisions

Receiving and incorporating feedback from your supervisor and examiners can be challenging but is a crucial part of the improvement process. Approaching revisions with an open mind and a commitment to refining your work will ultimately strengthen your thesis. Understanding the revision process, often outlined in university guidelines, can be found in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF documents.

Future Trends in Master Thesis Submission at AAU

The academic landscape is continually evolving, and this includes how master's theses are approached and submitted. Addis Ababa University is likely to adapt to these trends, further enhancing the student experience and the accessibility of research.

Increased Digitization and Open Access

There is a global trend towards greater digitization of academic work and promoting open access. This means that more master's theses, including those from Addis Ababa University, may become readily available online in PDF format, allowing for wider dissemination and accessibility to researchers worldwide. This move towards open access can also be facilitated by readily available master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF repositories.

Technological Integration in Research and Writing

Technology plays an increasingly significant role in research and academic writing. This includes the use of advanced data analysis software, plagiarism detection tools, and collaborative writing platforms. Students may find that future master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF resources will incorporate guidance on leveraging these technologies effectively.

Emphasis on Interdisciplinary Research

Universities are increasingly encouraging interdisciplinary research, which involves drawing from multiple fields to address complex problems. This approach can lead to more innovative and impactful master's theses. AAU may provide specific frameworks or support for students pursuing such avenues, potentially detailed in master thesis in Addis Ababa University PDF documents addressing cross-departmental collaboration.

Frequently Asked Questions

Where can I find recent Master's thesis topics related to Addis Ababa University's research areas?

You can often find recent Master's thesis topics by checking the departmental websites of Addis Ababa University, particularly within your field of interest. Many departments list ongoing research projects or provide suggestions for thesis topics. Additionally, reviewing published theses (often available online or in the university library) can give you a good sense of current trends and areas of focus.

What is the typical process for submitting a Master's thesis at Addis Ababa University, and are there specific PDF guidelines?

The submission process generally involves completing your research, writing the thesis according to university formatting guidelines, undergoing supervisor and departmental review, and then submitting the final version, often in PDF format. Addis Ababa University's School of Graduate Studies or your specific faculty will have detailed guidelines on formatting, submission deadlines, and the required number of copies, which are usually available on their respective websites or through the academic registrar's office.

How can I access and download Master's theses from Addis Ababa University in PDF format?

Addis Ababa University's library often has a digital repository or online catalog where you can search for and download Master's theses. Some departments may also host their own repositories. You might need to be on the university's network or have an institutional login to access some of these resources. If you're unable to find them online, visiting the university library in person is another option to access physical copies or inquire about digital access.

Are there any current challenges or emerging trends in Master's thesis research at Addis Ababa University that I should be aware of?

Current trends often align with national development priorities and global research agendas. For Addis Ababa University, this might include research in areas like sustainable development, public health, education reform, technology adoption, urban planning, and socio-economic development in Ethiopia. Challenges can involve access to resources, data collection in certain regions, and keeping pace with rapidly evolving research methodologies.

What resources does Addis Ababa University provide for Master's students undertaking thesis research, particularly concerning PDF creation and formatting?

Addis Ababa University typically offers resources such as library databases for literature review, research methodology workshops, and writing support services. Supervisors play a crucial role in guiding thesis development. Specific guidance on PDF creation and formatting is usually provided by the graduate studies office or faculty administration, often in the form of a thesis handbook or style guide.

How can I find a supervisor for my Master's thesis at Addis Ababa University, and what are the expectations regarding initial thesis proposals in PDF format?

Finding a supervisor usually involves identifying faculty members whose research interests align with your proposed thesis topic. You can do this by reviewing faculty profiles on departmental websites. It's common to reach out to potential supervisors with a brief research idea, sometimes as a short concept note or preliminary proposal (which might be in PDF). Be prepared to discuss your interests and how they fit with the faculty member's expertise.

A Comprehensive Guide to Finding and Utilizing Master Thesis Resources at Addis Ababa University

Finding the right master's thesis can be a challenging but rewarding endeavor. For researchers, students, and academics, access to these valuable resources unlocks a wealth of information and insights. This guide focuses specifically on locating and utilizing master's theses from Addis Ababa University (AAU), a leading institution of higher learning in Ethiopia. While AAU may not have a centralized, publicly accessible online repository for all theses like some international universities, this guide will provide you with strategies and resources to effectively navigate the process and maximize your chances of success.

Chapter 1: Navigating the Addis Ababa University Digital Library

The Addis Ababa University library system is likely your primary starting point. However, it's crucial to understand its structure and search capabilities. The library's website (if it has one dedicated to theses) should be your first stop. Familiarize yourself with the online catalog, which may be integrated with a discovery system. This allows you to search across multiple databases simultaneously.

Effective Search Strategies:

Keyword Research: Start with broad keywords related to your subject area and progressively refine them. Use synonyms and related terms to broaden your search. Experiment with Boolean operators (AND, OR, NOT) to combine keywords effectively. For example, searching for "Ethiopian Economics AND Development AND 2020-2023" will narrow your results significantly.

Subject Headings: The library catalog may utilize subject headings or classification systems (like Library of Congress Classification or Dewey Decimal Classification). Familiarizing yourself with these systems can greatly enhance your search precision.

Advanced Search Options: Most library catalogs offer advanced search options allowing you to filter results by author, date, publication type (thesis/dissertation), and language. Utilize these options to refine your results and save time.

Departmental Websites: If a centralized repository is unavailable, explore the websites of specific departments or colleges within AAU. Some departments might maintain their own digital archives or lists of completed theses.

Chapter 2: Identifying Relevant Theses

Once you've begun your search, the challenge shifts to identifying theses relevant to your specific research interests.

Refinement Strategies:

Subject Area Focus: Narrow your search to specific departments or colleges aligned with your research topic. For instance, if you are interested in agricultural economics, focusing your search on the College of Agriculture would be more productive.

Year of Publication: Specify a date range for your search to ensure relevance. Recent theses might contain more up-to-date information and methodologies.

Specific Keywords: Use very specific keywords that accurately reflect the nuances of your research topic. The more precise your keywords, the more targeted your results will be.

Supervisors or Authors: If you know the names of professors or researchers specializing in your area, searching by their names might reveal relevant theses supervised or authored by them.

Chapter 3: Downloading and Accessing Theses

Accessing AAU master's theses may involve several challenges. Many universities maintain restricted access to theses due to copyright or student privacy concerns.

Strategies for Access:

Direct Download: If the thesis is available online, follow the provided download instructions. Pay close attention to any copyright restrictions or terms of use.

Contacting the Authors: If the thesis is not readily available online, you may consider contacting the authors directly via email (often found within the thesis metadata). They may be willing to share a copy, particularly if your research aligns with their work.

Contacting the Department: Contact the relevant department or college within AAU. Explain your research interests and request assistance in accessing the thesis. They may have access to a local copy or be able to provide guidance.

Interlibrary Loan: If all else fails, consider using an interlibrary loan service. This involves requesting a copy of the thesis through your local library or university. This may take time, but it's a viable option for gaining access.

Chapter 4: Evaluating the Quality and Reliability of Theses

Not all theses are created equal. Critical evaluation is essential before relying on a thesis for your research.

Evaluation Criteria:

Methodology: Scrutinize the research methodology employed in the thesis. Is the methodology appropriate for the research question? Are the methods clearly described and justified?

Data Analysis: Assess the quality of data analysis and the interpretation of results. Are the findings supported by the data? Are there any biases or limitations in the data analysis?

Conclusions: Evaluate the conclusions drawn by the author. Are the conclusions supported by the findings? Are there any unsupported claims or generalizations?

Sources and Citations: Check the quality and relevance of the sources cited in the thesis. Are the sources credible and appropriately cited? Is there evidence of plagiarism?

Chapter 5: Utilizing Theses for Research and Academic Purposes

Once you've found and evaluated relevant theses, it's crucial to use them appropriately in your own work.

Proper Usage:

Proper Citation: Always cite the thesis according to a recognized citation style (e.g., APA, MLA, Chicago). This acknowledges the author's work and avoids plagiarism.

Avoiding Plagiarism: Never copy or paraphrase large sections of a thesis without proper attribution. Always summarize and synthesize information in your own words.

Integrating Findings: Use the findings of the thesis to support or challenge your own arguments. Clearly differentiate between your own contributions and the findings of the thesis.

Ethical Considerations: Respect copyright and intellectual property rights when using material from theses.

Conclusion

Accessing and utilizing master's theses from Addis Ababa University requires a strategic approach. By employing the techniques and strategies outlined in this guide, researchers can effectively navigate the search process, assess the quality of theses, and properly incorporate their findings into their academic work. Remember that persistence and proactive communication with the university and relevant departments are crucial to successful thesis retrieval. The landscape of digital resources is constantly evolving; staying updated on AAU's library systems and online resources will prove invaluable in future research endeavors.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Advances in Food and Non-Food Biomass Production, Processing and Use in Sub-Saharan Africa Daniel Callo-Concha, Hannah Jaenicke, Christine B. Schmitt, Manfred Denich, 2020-05-20 The bioeconomy concept aims to add sustainability to the production, transformation, and trade of biological goods. Though implemented around the world, the development of national bioeconomies is uneven, especially in the global South, where major challenges exist in Sub-Saharan Africa. In this context, the international BiomassWeb project aimed to underpin the bioeconomy concept by applying the value web approach, which seeks to uncover complex interlinked value webs instead of linear value chains. The project also aimed to develop intervention options to strengthen and optimize the synergies and trade-offs among different value chains. The Special Issue "Advances in Food and Non-Food Biomass Production, Processing and Use in Sub-Saharan Africa: Toward a Basis for a Regional Bioeconomy" compiles 23 articles produced in this framework. The articles are grouped in four sections: the value web approach; the production side; processing, transformation and trade; and global views.

Mano, 2016-04-08 This volume brings together scholars from different disciplines and nations to examine and assess the effectiveness of China's soft power initiatives in Africa. It throws light not only on China's engagement with Africa but also on how China's increasing influence is received in the African media.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Environment and Society in Ethiopia Girma Kebede, 2016-10-04 Ethiopia is facing environmental and poverty challenges, and urgently needs effective management of its environmental resources. Much of the Ethiopian landscape has been significantly altered and reshaped by centuries of human activities, and three-quarters of the rural population is living on degraded land. Over the past two decades the country has seen rapid economic and population growth and unparalleled land use change. This book explores the challenges of sustaining the resource base while fuelling the economy and providing for a growing population that is greatly dependent on natural resources for income and livelihoods. Adopting a political ecology perspective, this book comprehensively examines human impacts on the environment in Ethiopia, defining the environment both in terms of the quantity and quality of renewable and non-renewable natural resources. With high levels of economic production and consumption also come unintended side effects: waste discharges, emissions of pollutants, and industrial effluents. These pollutants can degrade the quality of water, air, land, and forests as well as harm the health of people, animals, and other living organisms if untreated or disposed of improperly. This book demonstrates how the relationship between society and environment is inherently and delicately interwoven, providing an account of Ethiopia's current environment and natural resource base and future considerations for environmentally sustainable development.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Social Protection, Pastoralism and Resilience in Ethiopia Zeremariam Fre, Bereket Tsegay, Araya M. Tekla, Nicole Kenton, John Livingstone, 2022-08-17 This book investigates the role of social protection amongst African pastoral and agro-pastoral communities, with a particular focus on Ethiopia. Based on rigorous empirical research, this book assesses the successes, failures, prospects and lessons learned from Africa's largest social security intervention: Ethiopia's Productive Safety Net Programme. It goes beyond an analysis of immediate impacts, exploring factors such as highland-lowland interactions, rural-urban linkages, economic diversification, the role of youth, indigenous safety nets and social capital. Special attention is given to gender-responsive social protection measures and to the circumstances brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic. Overall, the book demonstrates the value of indigenous knowledge systems and local institutions in contributing to the design of more effective safety net programmes and disaster responses and in helping people to build resilience and cope with shocks. At a time when social protection is gaining prominence in contemporary development discourse, this book will be of interest to development practitioners.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Routledge Handbook of the Horn of Africa Jean-Nicolas Bach, 2022-03-31 The Routledge Handbook of the Horn of Africa provides a comprehensive, interdisciplinary survey of contemporary research related to the Horn of Africa. Situated at the junction of the Sahel-Saharan strip and the Arabian Peninsula, the Horn of Africa is growing in global importance due to demographic growth and the strategic importance of the Suez Canal. Divided into sections on authoritarianism and resistance, religion and politics, migration, economic integration, the military, and regimes and liberation, the contributors provide up-to-date, authoritative knowledge on the region in light of contemporary strategic concerns. The handbook investigates how political, economic, and security innovations have been implemented, sometimes with violence, by use of force or by negotiation – including 'ethnic federalism' in Ethiopia, independence in Eritrea and South Sudan, integration of the traditional authorities in the (neo)patrimonial administrations, Somali Islamic Courts, the Sudanese Islamist regime, people's movements, multilateral operations, and the construction of an architecture for regional peace and security. Accessibly written, this handbook is an essential read for scholars, students, and policy professionals interested in the contemporary politics in the Horn of Africa.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Creating and Crossing Boundaries in Ethiopia Susanne Eppe, 2014 Ethiopia is best understood as a country with multiple internal divides, but also endless interconnections which are constantly renegotiated. Contributing to the growing literature on the country's cultural diversity, this book offers special emphasis on the contemporary dynamics of intra- and intergroup boundary formation and alteration. It also adds to the more general literature on identity change, boundary transgression of individuals and groups, and cultural contact and change. With contributions from experienced Ethiopian and international scholars, the book offers perspectives on territorial, ethnic, class, caste, gender, and age related boundaries in different parts of the country. master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Anthropological Linguistics Andrea Hollington, Alice Mitchell, Nico Nassenstein, 2024-02-15 This collection presents new research on key topics in anthropological linguistics, with a focus on African languages. While Africanist linguists have long been concerned with sociocultural aspects of language structure and use, no comprehensive volume dedicated to the anthropological linguistics of Africa has yet been published. This volume seeks to fill this gap. The chapters address a broad range of topics in anthropological linguistics, including classic themes such as spatial reference, color, kin terms, and emotion, as well as emerging interests in the linguistic expression of personhood, sociality, and language ideology. All contributions are based on original empirical research and present insights into African language practices from a sociocultural perspective. The volume showcases research on dozens of African languages spoken across the continent, with particular emphasis on languages of East Africa. This book will be of interest to areal specialists as well as to anthropological linguists worldwide.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Visions of Zion Erin C. MacLeod, 2014-07-04

In reggae song after reggae song Bob Marley and other reggae singers speak of the Promised Land of Ethiopia. "Repatriation is a must!" they cry. The Rastafari have been travelling to Ethiopia since the movement originated in Jamaica in 1930s. They consider it the Promised Land, and repatriation is a cornerstone of their faith. Though Ethiopians see Rastafari as immigrants, the Rastafari see themselves as returning members of the Ethiopian diaspora. In Visions of Zion, Erin C. MacLeod offers the first in-depth investigation into how Ethiopians perceive Rastafari and Rastafarians within Ethiopia and the role this unique immigrant community plays within Ethiopian society. Rastafari are unusual among migrants, basing their movements on spiritual rather than economic choices. This volume offers those who study the movement a broader understanding of the implications of repatriation. Taking the Ethiopian perspective into account, it argues that migrant and diaspora identities are the products of negotiation, and it illuminates the implications of this negotiation for concepts of citizenship, as well as for our understandings of pan-Africanism and south-south migration. Providing a rare look at migration to a non-Western country, this volume also fills a gap in the broader immigration studies literature.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: State Fragility and State Building in Africa Dele Olowu, Paulos Chanie, 2015-10-19 This book describes the contrast between the strong economic growth and democratization that have occurred in Africa and its stalling political progress. It presents and discusses fragility as the phenomenon that has caused the state to remain weak and faltering and has led to at least one third of the continent's citizens living in fragile states. Following the examination of the drivers of fragility and the impact of fragility on citizens and neighbouring states, the book discusses capacity building approaches. This part shows how effective states can be built on the African continent, a process that would result in a change from state fragility to state resilience. It is based on lessons learnt from close studies of the nations where the state has been most developed in the region, in Eastern and Southern Africa. The book provides and responds to the most recent and up-to-date information on African development and uses insights of people who have lived and worked in the continent for most of their lives.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Informal and Formal Social Protection Systems in Sub-Saharan Africa Melese Getu, Stephen Devereux, 2013 Addressing several themes in the social protection literature, this book makes an original and important contribution to the rapidly growing body of literature on social protection in sub-Saharan Africa. Some of the themes are relatively neglected or under-researched, while some others are not usually conceptualised as social protection. These themes are organized around the major issues: informal social protection, urban social protection, social protection and physical security, social protection in unstable contexts, climate change, pastoralism, and gender--Back cover.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Globalizing Education for Work Richard D. Lakes, Patricia A. Carter, 2004-07-19 This book takes a critical look at the impact of globalization as it relates to educating women for work. It explores current efforts in a number of nations to make vocational education and training gender equitable.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Life Skills Education for Youth Joan DeJaeghere, Erin Murphy-Graham, 2021-11-23 This open access volume critically reviews a diverse body of scholarship and practice that informs the conceptualization, curriculum, teaching and measurement of life skills in education settings around the world. It discusses life skills as they are implemented in schools and non-formal education, providing both qualitative and quantitative evidence of when, with whom, and how life skills do or do not impact young women's and men's lives in various contexts. Specifically, it examines the nature and importance of life skills, and how they are taught. It looks at the synergies and differences between life skills educational programmes and the way in which they promote social and emotional learning, vocational/employment education, and health and sexuality education. Finally, it explores how life skills may be better incorporated into education and how such education can address structures and relations of power to help youth achieve desired future outcomes, and goals set out in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Life skills education has gained considerable attention by education policymakers, researchers and educators as being the sine qua non for later achievements in life. It is nearly ubiquitous in global and national education policies, including the SDGs, because life skills are regarded as essential for a diverse set of purposes: reducing poverty, achieving gender equality, promoting economic growth, addressing climate change, fostering peace and global citizenship, and creating sustainable and healthy communities. Yet, to achieve these broad goals, questions persist as to which life skills are important, who needs to learn them, how they can be taught, and how they are best measured. This book addresses these questions.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Dynamism in African Languages and Literature Keiko Takemura, B. Nyamnjoh, 2021-03-13 The book provides novel perspectives towards conceptualisation of African Potentials. It explores diverse and dynamic aspects of linguistic communications in Africa, ranging from convivial multilingual practices to literal and musical arts. The book reflects the diversity and ever-changing dynamism in the African sociolinguistic sphere, that is, metalinguistic discourse in East Africa, sociolinguistic dynamism in Angola, conflict reconciliation speech performed in Ethiopia, and syncretic urban linguistic code called Sheng in Kenya. The volume also explores multi-dimensional relationships between literary arts and the society by investigating such topics as traditional Swahili poetry, publication of children books in Benin, and transformation and reconstruction of Yoruba popular music. The book elucidates dynamic process of creation through mixing of traditional and foreign elements of culture.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The Cambridge Handbook of Linguistic Typology Alexandra Y. Aikhenvald, R. M. W. Dixon, 2017-03-30 Linguistic typology identifies both how languages vary and what they all have in common. This Handbook provides a state-of-the art survey of the aims and methods of linguistic typology, and the conclusions we can draw from them. Part I covers phonological typology, morphological typology, sociolinguistic typology and the relationships between typology, historical linguistics and grammaticalization. It also addresses typological features of mixed languages, creole languages, sign languages and secret languages. Part II features contributions on the typology of morphological processes, noun categorization devices, negation, frustrative modality, logophoricity, switch reference and motion events. Finally, Part III focuses on typological profiles of the mainland South Asia area, Australia, Quechuan and Aymaran, Eskimo-Aleut, Iroquoian, the Kampa subgroup of Arawak, Omotic, Semitic, Dravidian, the Oceanic subgroup of Austronesian and the Awuyu-Ndumut family (in West Papua). Uniting the expertise of a stellar selection of scholars, this Handbook highlights linguistic typology as a major discipline within the field of linguistics.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The Soils of Ethiopia Sheleme Beyene, Alemayehu Regassa, Bipin B. Mishra, Mitiku Haile, 2023-01-05 This book addresses Ethiopia's extremely rich soil diversity and resources, which have developed under various climatic conditions. Featuring contributions by a group of respected experts on Ethiopian soils and agriculture, it provides comprehensive information on the management approaches needed for sustainable soil utilization and conservation under such conditions and the attendant challenges. It offers a valuable resource for anyone interested in soils and agriculture in Ethiopia, but also in other African countries with similar climatic conditions. The book contains 13 chapters which illustrate the long history of knowledge and soil research; climate; geology and geomorphology; soil forming factors, processes, and classification; major soil types, their properties, fertility status, and management; land evaluation and land use planning; soils and society/industry; and future/emerging soil issues.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The Oromo Movement and Imperial Politics Asafa Jalata, 2020-02-13 Focusing on the issue of the Oromo national struggle for liberation, statehood, and democracy, this book critically examines the dialectical relationship between Ethiopian colonialism and Oromo culture, epistemology, politics, and ideology in the context of the accumulated collective grievances of the Oromo nation. Specifically, the book identifies chains of sociological and historical factors that facilitated the development of Oromummaa (Oromo nationalism) and the Oromo national movement. It demonstrates how the Oromo national movement has been challenging and transforming Ethiopian imperial politics, tracks the different forms and phases of the movement, and maps out its future direction. Currently, the Oromo are the largest ethno-national group and political minority in the Ethiopian Empire. They were colonized and incorporated into Ethiopia as colonial subjects in the last decades of the 19th century through the alliance of Abyssinian/Ethiopian colonialism and European imperialism. Since their colonization, the Oromo people have been treated as second-class citizens and have been economically exploited and culturally and politically suppressed. Despite the fact that Oromo resistance to Ethiopian colonialism existed during the process of their colonization and subjugation, it was only in the 1960s and 1970s that Oromo nationalists initiated organized efforts to liberate their people. Presently, Oromo nationalism plays a central role in Ethiopian politics.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The Oxford Handbook of Ethiopian Languages Ronny Meyer, Bedilu Wakjira, Zelealem Leyew, 2023-05-04 This handbook provides a comprehensive account of the languages spoken in Ethiopia, exploring both their structures and features and their function and use in society. The first part of the volume provides background and general information relating to Ethiopian languages, including their demographic distribution and classification, language policy, scripts and writing, and language endangerment. Subsequent parts are dedicated to the four major language families in Ethiopia - Cushitic, Ethiosemitic, Nilo-Saharan, and Omotic - and contain studies of individual languages, with an initial introductory overview chapter in each part. Both major and less-documented languages are included, ranging from Amharic and Oromo to Zay, Gawwada, and Yemsa. The final part explores languages that are outside of those four families, namely Ethiopian Sign Language, Ethiopian English, and Arabic. With its international team of senior researchers and junior scholars, The Oxford Handbook of Ethiopian Languages will appeal to anyone interested in the languages of the region and in African linguistics more broadly.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Youth on the Move Asnake Kefale, Fana Gebresenbet, 2021-12-01 At a time when policies are increasingly against it, international migration has become the subject of great public and academic attention. This book departs from the dominant approach of studying international migration at macro level, and from the perspective of destination countries. The contributors here seek to do more than 'scratch the surface' of the migration process, by foregrounding the voices and views of Ethiopian youth-potential migrants and returnees-and of their sending communities. The volume focuses on the perspective and agency of these young people, both potential migrants and returnees, to better understand migration decision-making, experiences and outcomes. It brings together rarely documented cases of young men and women from several communities across Ethiopia, migrating to the Gulf and South Africa. Explaining the agency of local actors-prospective migrants, brokers and sending families-Youth on the Move illuminates the pervasive, persistent failure of state attempts to regulate migration. Moreover, it examines the financing of migration and the sharing of remittances, within a culturally situated moral economy. While accounts centered on economics and political violence are important, the contributors demonstrate compellingly that these factors alone cannot provide a full understanding of migration's complexity, nor of its social realities.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The context of REDD+ in Ethiopia Melaku Bekele, Yemiru Tesfaye, Zerihun Mohammed, Solomon Zewdie, Yibeltal Tebikew, Maria Brockhaus, Habtemariam Kassa, 2015-06-23 Specifically, the paper identifies and analyzes several direct drivers of deforestation and forest degradation in Ethiopia including: forest clearance for both subsistence and large-scale agriculture; illegal and unsustainable extraction of wood mainly for charcoal and firewood; overgrazing; and recurrent forest fires. It also reviews underlying drivers including: rapid population increase and the associated growing demand for land and energy; extensive legal and institutional gaps including lack of stable and equitable forest tenure; lack of stakeholder participation in forest management and benefit-sharing schemes; and weak law enforcement. These drivers and the dominant actors behind them – ranging from small-scale subsistence farmers to national and global investors – are discussed in the context of the political economy, including the policy and institutional framework of the country. The implications of the overall forest condition to the objectives and requirements of REDD+ are evaluated, and key issues that need to be addressed for efficient, effective and equitable implementation of REDD+ are discussed. These key issues include: reconciling the apparently contradictory policies and programs, particularly those that negatively affect the forestry sector; improving the forest tenure and governance system; augmenting economic return from forests to communities and individuals; creating more efficient and effective forest institutions at all levels; and enhancing sectoral and regional coordination among implementing agencies.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Inter-firm Relationships and Governance Structures Tebarek Lika Megento, 2011 Interest in the topic of governance and interfirm relationships in the Ethiopian leather and leather products industry was developed after observing a gap in the literature on value chain research at the international level and finding only a few empirical studies on value chains at the local level. Most of the value chain research conducted throughout the world are either too general or are simply functionalistic and, thus, fail to address the socio-cultural context. This study contributes to the literature in several ways: firstly, the present research suggests that a central focus of value chain analysis should be the examination of social networks within local, but also global, value chains, as social relations might play an important and so far neglected role in the struggle to participate in the rapidly changing world economy. Secondly, as a clear departure from mainstream value chain research, this study makes use of a mixture of value chain and network approaches for exploring processes and micro-level interactions used by individuals to construct and maintain networks.

The insights presented assist key stakeholders to make informed decisions concerning commercial strategy, profitability and feasibility of halal tourism from the secular perspective. This innovative book offers a unique contribution to halal tourism, being the first of its kind to assess halal tourism development in developing countries. It provides a clear understanding of what halal tourism means, how it has evolved and the current status of the industry. The book considers the prospects of halal tourism, including the conceptual and practical challenges of halal tourism development. The example of halal tourism in Ethiopia is explored to provide a lens through which deeper understandings can be drawn on where and how to develop halal tourism This book will be of interest to, researchers, students in the disciplines of tourism, anthropology, geography, business administration and sociology. It also provides useful insights for policy makers, planners and professionals in the hospitality and tourism industry.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Aging Across Cultures Helaine Selin, 2022-01-01 This volume brings together chapters about aging in many non-Western cultures, from Africa and Asia to South America, from American Indians to Australian and Hawaii Aborigines. It also includes articles on other issues of aging, such as falling, dementia, and elder abuse. It was thought that in Africa or Asia, elders were revered and taken care of. This certainly used to be the case. But the Western way has moved into these places, and we now find that elders are often left on their own or in institutions, as younger people have migrated to other cities and even countries. Grandparents often find themselves being parents to their grandchildren, a far cry from the kind of life they believed they would have as they aged. This book will explore all these issues and will be of use to students and researchers in this relatively new field.

The proceedings consist of 82 papers presented at the Science and Mathematics International Conference (SMIC) 2018, organised by the Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences, Universitas Negeri Jakarta, Indonesia. The proceedings are organised in four parts: Science, Science Education, Mathematics, and Mathematics Education. The papers contribute to our understanding of important contemporary issues in science, especially nanotechnology, materials and environmental science; science education, in particular, environmental sustainability, STEM and STEAM education, 21st century skills, technology education, and green chemistry; and mathematics and its application in statistics, computer science, and mathematics education.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Human Trafficking and Exploitation Belachew Gebrewold, Johanna Kostenzer, Andreas Th. Müller, 2017-09-22 Human trafficking is a serious human rights violation that leads to the gross exploitation of its victims, who are coerced into forced labor and slavery across the globe. As the current migration movement and refugee situation reaches crisis point in Europe, the risk of human trafficking from the Mediterranean Sea through Italy into Central and Western Europe has become a critical emergency. Focusing on human trafficking along this route into Europe, this book discusses the systematic exploitation of victims and the subsequent violation of human rights within an international context, providing an overview of the causes, regulation and prevention of the issue. Academic researchers, practitioners and policy-makers are brought together to provide both theoretical perspectives and practice-based approaches for addressing the issue of human trafficking. As well as scholarly contributions from experts in the field, the book also includes experiences and strategies of policy-makers and practitioners from governmental and non-governmental organizations, along with the real-life scenarios and practice reports. Human Trafficking and Exploitation should be considered essential reading for academics, policy-makers, advocates and activists interested in preventing human trafficking and protecting human rights. It will also be of interest to those with research interests within the broader themes of law, politics and international relations and social and health policy.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Livelihood and Urban Poverty Reduction in Ethiopia Tegegne Gebre-Egziabher, 2011 The international development policy agenda is currently dominated by the theme of poverty reduction. The theme has been vigorously pursued by multilateral donors, such as The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), World Bank, and others. Their assistance has also been tuned to pro-poor policy frameworks. Poverty, however, is understood mainly to be a rural phenomenon. This is based on the fact that rural poverty is widespread and pervasive and affects a large segment of the population since the majority of people in less developed countries reside in rural areas. There is, however, an increasing trend of urban growth and with it urban poverty all over the world. In Ethiopia urban poverty, in comparison to rural poverty and national level poverty, has increased over time. This has necessitated urban poverty reduction as an important area of intervention in urban development and planning. The objective of this study is to understand the livelihood situations of the poor in big and small towns, and identify the gaps and linkages between the livelihood requirements of the poor and policies at municipal level. The study was conducted in nine cities and towns of the country, including the capital city.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Industrialization in Ethiopia: Awakening - Crisis

- Outlooks Reimer Gronemeyer, Michaela Fink, 2023-11-23 Ethiopia, though remaining one of the least urbanised countries in the world, has taken impressive actions to transform the state into a more industrialized nation. Several industrial parks have been built in recent years throughout the whole country. The textile sector is one of these sectors. The textile industry is expected to provide employment for hundreds of thousands and thus improve people's living conditions and contribute to the development of the country. Major reason for Asian investors to shift their focus to Ethiopia are extremely low wages and the lower production costs involved. The Ethiopian textile industry has to deal with high rates of labor turnover and absenteeism. From the perspective of the mostly international managers the reason for turnover and absenteeism is often attributed to the 'mindset' of the predominantly female workforce. A research project financed by the German Bundesministerium für wirtschaftliche Zusammenarbeit und Entwicklung is looking at reasons and possible measures to solve this problem. Results of this project (conducted at the University of Giessen by Michaela Fink and Reimer Gronemeyer together with Ethiopian colleagues) are presented in this book. Experts from Ethiopia and Germany are presenting the history of the textile industry in Ethiopia and the coming development. All this is framed by the discussion of present crisis - Covid-19; the war - in Ethiopia).

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Locating Politics in Ethiopia's Irreecha Ritual Serawit Bekele Debele, 2019-08-26 In Locating Politics in Ethiopia's Irreecha Ritual Serawit Bekele Debele gives an account of politics and political processes in contemporary Ethiopia as manifested in the annual ritual performance. Mobilizing various sources such as archives, oral accounts, conversations, videos, newspapers, and personal observations, Debele critically analyses political processes and how they are experienced, made sense of and articulated across generational, educational, religious, gender and ethnic differences as well as political persuasions. Moreover, she engages Irreecha in relation to the hugely contested meaning making processes attached to the Thanksgiving ritual which has now become an integral part of Oromo national identity.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Social and Ecological System Dynamics Krystyna Stave, Goraw Goshu, Shimelis Aynalem, 2017-04-06 This book is a social—ecological system description and feedback analysis of the Lake Tana Basin, the headwater catchment of the Upper Blue Nile River. This basin is an important local, national, and international resource, and concern about its sustainable development is growing at many levels. Lake Tana Basin outflows of water, sediments, nutrients, and contaminants affect water that flows downstream in the Blue Nile across international boundaries into the Nile River; the lake and surrounding land have recently been proposed as a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve; the basin has been designated as a key national economic growth corridor in the Ethiopian Growth and Transformation Plan. In spite of the Lake Tana Basin's importance, there is no comprehensive, integrated, system-wide description of its characteristics and dynamics that can serve as a basis for its sustainable development. This book presents both the social and ecological characteristics of the region and an integrated, system-wide perspective of the feedback links that shape social and ecological change in the basin. Finally, it summarizes key research needs for sustainable development.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: The Routledge Handbook of Adoption Gretchen Miller Wrobel, Emily Helder, Elisha Marr, 2020-02-17 Adoption is practiced globally yielding a multidimensional area of study that cannot be characterized by a single movement or discipline. This handbook provides a central source of contemporary scholarship from a variety of disciplines with an international perspective and uses a multifaceted and interdisciplinary approach to ground adoption practices and activities in scientific research. Perspectives of birth/first parents, adoptive parents, and adopted persons are brought forth through a range of disciplinary and theoretical lenses. Beginning with background and context of adoption, including sociocultural and political contexts, the handbook then addresses the diversity of adoptive families in terms of family forms, attitudes about adoption, and characteristics of adopted children. Next, research examining the lived experience of adoption for birth parents, adoptive parents, and adopted individuals is presented. A variety of outcomes for internationally and domestically adopted children and adoptive families is then discussed and the handbook concludes by addressing the development, training, and implementation of adoption competent clinical practice. With cutting-edge research from top international scholars in a diversity of fields, The Routledge Handbook of Adoption should be considered essential reading for students, researchers, and practitioners across the fields of social work, sociology, psychology, medicine, family science, education, and demography. Interviews with chapter authors can be accessed as podcasts (<https://anchor.fm/emily-helder>) or as videos (<https://bit.ly/2FIoi0a>).

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Traditional Institutions in Contemporary African Governance Kidane Mengisteab, Gerard Hagg, 2017-06-26 Most African economies range from moderately advanced capitalist systems with modern banks and stock markets to peasant and pastoral subsistent systems. Most African countries are also characterized by parallel institutions of governance – one is the state sanctioned (formal) system and the other is the traditional system, which is adhered to, primarily but not exclusively, by the segments of the population in the subsistence peasant and pastoral economic systems. Traditional Institutions in Contemporary African Governance examines critical issues that are largely neglected in the literature, including why traditional institutions have remained entrenched, what the socioeconomic implications of fragmented institutional systems are, and whether they facilitate or impede democratization. The contributors investigate the organizational structure of traditional leadership, the level of adherence of the traditional systems, how dispute resolution, decision-making, and resource allocation are conducted in the traditional system, gender relations in the traditional system, and how the traditional institutions interact with the formal institutions. Filling a conspicuous gap in the literature on African governance, this book will be of great interest to policy makers as well as students and scholars of African politics, political economy and democratization.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Pastoralism and Development in Africa Andy Catley, Jeremy Lind, Ian Scoones, 2013-05-07 Once again, the Horn of Africa has been in the headlines. And once again the news has been bad: drought, famine, conflict, hunger, suffering and death. The finger of blame has been pointed in numerous directions: to the changing climate, to environmental degradation, to overpopulation, to geopolitics and conflict, to aid agency failures, and more. But it is not all disaster and catastrophe. Many successful development efforts at 'the margins' often remain hidden, informal, sometimes illegal; and rarely in line with standard development prescriptions. If we shift our gaze from the capital cities to the regional centres and their hinterlands, then a very different perspective emerges. These are the places where pastoralists live. They have for centuries struggled with drought, conflict and famine. They are resourceful, entrepreneurial and innovative peoples. Yet they have been ignored and marginalised by the states that control their territory and the development agencies who are supposed to help them. This book argues that, while we should not ignore the profound difficulties of creating secure livelihoods in the Greater Horn of Africa, there is much to be learned from development successes, large and small. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars with an interest in development studies and human geography, with a particular emphasis on Africa. It will also appeal to development master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Muslim Ethiopia Terje Østebø, 2013-04-17 Drawing on international and multidisciplinary expertise, this pioneering edited collection analyzing Islam in contemporary Ethiopia challenges the popular notion of a 'Christian Ethiopia' imagined as the century-old, never colonized Abyssinia, isolated in the highlands and dominated by Orthodox Christianity.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Citizens, Civil Society, and Activism under the EPRDF Regime in Ethiopia Camille Louise Pellerin, Logan Cochrane, 2023-07-15 In 2014-15, the Ethiopian government, together with many academics and observers, was surprised by the outbreak of anti-government protests, as large-scale public contestation of the Ethiopian People's Revolutionary Democratic Front (EPRDF) had been largely absent in the regime's history. The dominant narrative about the EPRDF regime was that it was a top-down government, using authoritarian methods to ensure the population abided by its visions and directives, and describing its role in paternalistic ways, such as being the protector and guardian of the people. Changing this narrative, Citizens, Civil Society, and Activism under the EPRDF Regime in Ethiopia considers how citizens and civil society expressed their interests and exerted their agency in an authoritarian setting. Focusing on the EPRDF regime over a period of three decades up to 2019, the book explores civic activism in Ethiopia, presenting diverse examples of how citizens have (re)shaped the country. Challenging state-centric readings of state-society relations under EPRDF governance, this collection provides a counternarrative that emphasizes the role and agency of citizens and civil society. The contributing authors draw on a heuristic analytical framework that examines different types of interactions between civil society and state actors (co-optation, co-operation, coexistence, and contestation) and captures the ways in which civil society actors make their voices heard. At a time when authoritarian forms of governance are increasingly prevalent across the world, this critically important collection offers insight into how citizens claim their agency and challenge state power in apparently top-down contexts.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Legal Pluralism in Ethiopia Susanne Epple, Getachew Assefa, 2020-07-31 Being a home to more than 80 ethnic groups, Ethiopia has to balance normative diversity with efforts to implement state law across its territory. This volume explores the co-existence of state, customary, and religious legal forums from the perspective of legal practitioners and local justice seekers. It shows how the various stakeholders' use of negotiation, and their strategic application of law can lead to unwanted confusion, but also to sustainable conflict resolution, innovative new procedures and hybrid norms. The book thus generates important knowledge on the conditions necessary for stimulating a cooperative co-existence of different legal systems.

master thesis in addis ababa university pdf: Changing Identifications and Alliances in North-east Africa Günther Schlee, Elizabeth E. Watson, 2009-10-01 Forms of group identity play a prominent role in everyday lives and politics in northeast Africa. Case studies from Sudan, Ethiopia, Uganda, and Kenya illustrate the way that identities are formed and change over time, and how local, national, and international politics are interwoven. Specific attention is paid to the impact of modern weaponry, new technologies, religious conversion, food and land shortages, international borders, civil war, and displacement on group identities. Drawing on the expertise of anthropologists, historians and geographers, these volumes provide a significant account of a society profoundly shaped by identity politics and contribute to a better understanding of the nature of conflict and war, and forms of alliance and peacemaking, thus providing a comprehensive portrait of this troubled region.
