What is DD Form 1577?

DD Form 1577, also known as the “Unserviceable (Condemned) Tag – Material,” is a standardized form used by the Department of Defense to identify and tag government property that is unserviceable or condemned. The form serves as an official record indicating that the item has been found to be defective, damaged beyond repair, or no longer suitable for use in its current condition. It helps ensure that unserviceable materials are clearly marked and segregated from serviceable inventory, preventing accidental use or shipment.

Definition and Overview

The DD Form 1577 provides a consistent method for documenting the status of unserviceable property. It is part of a broader system of property accountability and control, which includes other forms and tags designed to classify assets by condition and disposition. The form typically accompanies the tagged item and remains with it until final disposition actions, such as repair, disposal, or demilitarization, are completed.

Historical Context

The use of DD Form 1577 dates back to efforts by the DoD to standardize property management procedures across all branches of the military. By implementing uniform tags and documentation, the military enhanced the accuracy of inventory records and streamlined maintenance and disposal processes.

Purpose and Importance of DD Form 1577

The primary purpose of DD Form 1577 is to identify property that is unserviceable and to prevent its inadvertent use or distribution. This form is integral to maintaining the integrity and safety of military operations and government property management.

Ensuring Property Accountability

By tagging unserviceable items with DD Form 1577, custodians provide clear evidence that an item requires special handling. This accountability prevents loss, theft, or misplacement of government property and ensures compliance with federal regulations governing government assets.

Supporting Maintenance and Disposal Processes

DD Form 1577 facilitates the tracking of items through maintenance cycles or disposal procedures. Items tagged as unserviceable can be evaluated for repair, cannibalization, or scrapping, enabling efficient use of resources and proper environmental and legal disposal practices.

Enhancing Safety and Operational Efficiency

Use of the DD Form 1577 reduces the risk of unserviceable equipment being used in critical operations, which could lead to safety hazards or mission failure. Proper tagging allows personnel to quickly identify and segregate defective materials, promoting operational readiness and safety.

Components and Structure of DD Form 1577

Understanding the layout and content of DD Form 1577 is essential for accurate completion and compliance. The form includes various fields designed to capture detailed information about the unserviceable item and its condition.

dd form 1577: How Tobacco Smoke Causes Disease United States. Public Health Service. Office of the Surgeon General, 2010 This report considers the biological and behavioral mechanisms that may underlie the pathogenicity of tobacco smoke. Many Surgeon General's reports have considered research findings on mechanisms in assessing the biological plausibility of associations observed in epidemiologic studies. Mechanisms of disease are important because they may provide plausibility, which is one of the guideline criteria for assessing evidence on causation. This report specifically reviews the evidence on the potential mechanisms by which smoking causes diseases and considers whether a mechanism is likely to be operative in the production of human disease by tobacco smoke. This evidence is relevant to understanding how smoking causes disease, to identifying those who may be particularly susceptible, and to assessing the potential risks of tobacco products.
